AIMS FOR PEACE OF GT. BRITAIN AND U.S. DECLARED IDENTICAL

Unusually Cordial Exchange of Greetings Takes Place Between President Roosevelt and the Marquess of Lothian on Arrival of New British Ambassador in Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP).—At the height of the European crisis, British and United States aims for peace were declared identical today in an unusually cordial exchange of greetings between President Roosevelt and the new British Ambassador, the Marquess of Lothian.

"It is the first purpose of the Government I have the honor to represent to do everything in its power to maintain peace and to bring about whatever political and economic adjustments reason and justice may require by pacific means, and so help to bring the nations back to stable prosperity and stable peace," Lord Lothian told the President.

"THE SAME ENDS"
"They (the British Government) are confident that in this search for peace they are only pursuing the same ends which you, Mr. President, and the American people also have at heart."

In reply, the President asserted it was "the sincere desire of the American Government and people that the relationship of mutual cordiality and mutual respect now happily existing between our countries, shall continue to prevail as one of the cornerstones upon which the structure of peace shall be founded."

"The principal task of international statesmanship," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "is to effect peaceful and constructive solutions of controversies between the nations and thus to obviate the folly of war, which unhappily seems to overshadow the world today."

The American Government and people have consistently, over many years, been working for peace.

SERVICES ARE INDISPENSABLE

Misunderstanding Regarding Guard Duty Cleared Up By Authorities

Emphasizing that guard duty at certain vulnerable points on Vancouver Island was absolutely essential during the present "precautionary period," Brigadier J. C. Stewart, D.O.C., M.D., No. 11, last night issued a statement clearing up misunderstanding that has been created in the public mind on the subject of voluntary service of the militia.

"While it is true that the call made on the militia is on a voluntary basis," the commanding officer said, "it should be understood that all officers, and especially trained men of the 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, R.C.A., and the 17th Searchlight Battery, R.C.A., and certain trained personnel of other units, are indispensable to the successful carrying out of the precautionary period."

"Employers of labor, it is hoped, will co-operate to the extent of allowing their employees who are members of the militia to give their services. It should be realized that on a purely voluntary basis, where those affected are in danger of losing their jobs, there will not be a sufficient number of men to carry out the necessary duties."

"All units of the militia are in need of recruits in order to relieve trained specialists from the relief of duties which can be performed by untrained personnel."

BLAME EXPLOSION ON SMALL BOYS

MILTON, Ont., Aug. 30 (CP).—Lieutenant Bruce Fitzgerald, officer in charge of the Milton Armoury, blamed small boys today for an explosion near the armoury that could be heard all over town.

Fitzgerald said that a group of boys placed detonator caps within fifty feet of the armoury last night.

Had these detonators been closer there might have been considerable damage, Fitzgerald said.

The lieutenant said that identity of the boys was known, and military police would determine what action to take against them.

Poland Calls More Men; Nazis Control Slovakia; Rome Holds Peace Hopes

Polish Order for Near-General Mobilization Effective Today—Slovak Government Surrenders Power to German Army—"Out With Versailles" Keynote of Italian Newspapers

WARSAW, Aug. 30 (AP).—An order for near-general mobilization, effective Thursday, put sharp teeth tonight in Poland's preparedness for war. The call for more men was issued at about the same time that Poland was advised, a Foreign Office spokesman said, of Fuehrer Hitler's proposal to the British Government for ending the international crisis.

Hitler's reply to a British note, which answered an earlier German note, was "even more bitter than his reply to Daladier," Premier of France, the spokesman declared.

The German Fuehrer in his note to France had rejected the idea of direct negotiations with Poland of his demand for Danzig and the Polish Corridor.

TRANSPORTS TAKEN
The mobilization order, it was estimated, would bring to well over 2,000,000 the number of men under arms. The present total is close to 1,500,000. The order also provided for the wide-scale requisitioning of motor cars, trucks, horses, carts, bicycles and other means of transportation.

All reserve officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers under forty must report to their nearest military centre.

The announcement of mobilization was followed by a communique which stated Germany "has started an aggressive policy with regard to the Polish Republic."

The communique asserted Poland's intentions are entirely defensive.

Official circles here said they had no knowledge of reports in London that Hitler had indicated a willingness to negotiate directly with this country.

A blackout was ordered for the capital tonight.

Steamships were warned by radio that "entering Polish waters was dangerous." Steamships destined for Gdynia were ordered to stop outside Polish waters and ask for a pilot to take them to the port.

SLOVAKS SURRENDER
BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, Aug. 30 (AP).—The Slovak Government today surrendered its powers to a German army of occupation.

Neutral observers estimated German forces in Slovakia now exceed 300,000 men, concentrated at four strategic passes along the mountainous border.

BLACK CAT VISITS
THE WHITE HOUSE
Makes Friends With British Ambassador Who Sees an Omen of Peace

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP).—A scrappy, black cat attracted the attention of White House visitors, including the new British Ambassador, the Marquess of Lothian, today by taking up its station and remaining at the doorway to the executive offices. It was immediately compared with its black counterpart, the cat which is said to visit 10 Downing Street in London during tense times in Europe.

Photographers made dozens of pictures, indicating several of the ambassador stroking the animal and placing it on his shoulders.

"These black cats always bring peace," he observed.

The cat was named "Crissie."

PASSENGERS ON GERMAN
SHIP HELD AT EVERETT
Being Returned Home

Vessel Failed to Complete Journey to Canadian Port and Fine Is Levied—Not Leaving Until Crisis Ended

EVERETT, Wash., Aug. 30 (AP).—Passengers of the German steamer Portland, here since Monday because of the European crisis, started disembarking tonight under mysterious circumstances while United States customs officers patrolled the vessel.

One veteran waterfront newsman said he never had seen so many customs men aboard a vessel in port, adding that they "rivalled the crew in numbers."

A coast guard cutter pulled in near the bow of the Portland tonight, in such position as to be able to block any movement of the ship.

Customs Chief F. Moran, of the Everett office, declined to discuss the presence of the officers, but denied reports that the precautionary move had been taken to prevent any attempt of the vessel to leave during the night.

The first passenger to leave the ship tonight was Mrs. Mary Conist of Sacramento, Cal., who said the passengers' passage to their homes would be paid by the Hamburg-American Line, owner of the ship.

Hitler Has Latest British Note, But no Indication of Its Contents or Tone Given to World—French Government Orders Railroads Handed to Army—Speculation Continues

Major Issue Is Doubtful Informed Sources Declare

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—The British Government sent another diplomatic message to Fuehrer Hitler tonight. While diplomatic circles reported Hitler was willing to negotiate directly with the Poles, informed sources insisted Britain and France were placing no pressure on the Warsaw Government to sign away its country's national integrity or sovereignty.

GERMANY HAS WAR COUNCIL

Hitler Issues Decree Forming Board of Control to Govern Nation

BERLIN, Aug. 31 (Thursday), (AP).—Fuehrer Hitler decided late last night to concentrate in a few hands all the economic, financial and administrative power necessary for defending the Reich in case war should come.

A short time before Great Britain's latest secret crisis note was handed in at the Reich Chancellery, the Fuehrer appointed a ministerial council of six men, headed by Field Marshal Hermann Goering, his most trusted adviser. The others:

The Minister of the Interior, Wilhelm Frick, as head of the nation's administrative apparatus.

Colonel General Wilhelm Keitel as chief of the high command of the armed forces.

Dr. Walter Funk as president of the Reichsbank and Minister of Economics.

Rudolf Hess as deputy Fuehrer of the Nazi Party.

Dr. Hans-Heinrich Lammers as liaison officer between the Fuehrer and the council.

The decree centralizing defence authority in a six-man Cabinet Council said:

"For the duration of the present foreign political tension I decree for unified leadership in administration and economy as follows:

"1. Out of the Reich's defence council a Cabinet Council for the Reich defence will be formed as a permanent committee.

"Permanent members of the Cabinet Council are: General Field Marshal Goering, as chairman, the deputy of the Fuehrer, the general deputy for Reich's administration, the general deputy for economy, the minister and chief of the Reich's Chancellery, the chief of the Reich's command of the army.

"The chairman may also call in additional members of the Reich's defence council, as well as other persons for consultation.

"2. The Cabinet Council for the Reich's defence shall issue decrees with legal authority in case I do not order the issuance of a law through the Reich's Government or the Reichstag.

"3. The authority of Field Marshal Goering accruing from the carrying out of the four-year plan of October, 1936, in particular his right to issue orders, remains effective."

"The day of surrendering to Germans in the name of appeasement is over—definitely over," one source said, adding British determination to stand by the Poles against aggression, as expressed in recent speeches by Prime Minister Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, the Foreign Secretary, was as strong as ever.

The British Government spent an hour reviewing Hitler's latest communication and later cabled a reply to Sir Neville Henderson, the British Ambassador at Berlin, for transmission to the Fuehrer. Its terms were not made public, but it was understood the British Government is expecting a reply.

Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's High Commissioner in London, made two trips to Downing Street for a conference with officials at the Dominion Office on Hitler's message and the British reply.

Meanwhile reports flew about Downing Street, Whitehall and among the different foreign embassies that the German Fuehrer had reversed an earlier decision communicated to the French Government, and was ready to open direct negotiations with the Poles.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP).—The United States Government attacked the widespread practice of betting on horse races in gambling rooms today with indictments contending the system was a lottery.

A Federal grand jury indicted M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher and racing news magnate; Charles Bidwill, owner of the Chicago Cardinals professional football team; and James M. Ragen, manager of Annenberg's National News Service, on charges of conspiracy to further a lottery scheme.

LOTTERY SCHEMES
The two indictments alleged the defendants and their companies supplied equipment and information for off-track bookmakers, who were described as "operators of lottery schemes."

The jurors maintained that Bidwill's concern, Bentley, Murray & Co., printed and distributed entry sheets, tickets and other material used in betting establishments away from the race tracks and that the Nationwide News Service and a subsidiary, Illinois Nationwide News Service, aided the "lottery scheme" by sending entries, odds and results over their wire networks from the tracks to the bookmakers' shops.

The defendants were charged with using the mails to further a lottery and with carrying over interstate wires "a list of prizes awarded by means of a lottery scheme."

It was the fourth time within three weeks Annenberg had been indicted by Federal grand juries here.

BREMEN STARTS VOYAGE HOME

Normandie Stays Indefinitely at New York—No Contraband Found

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP).—The German liner Bremen, detained here two days while United States Government agents searched her to make certain she carried no armament capable of raiding the shipping of other potential European belligerents, sped at last tonight for home, carrying extraordinary food and fuel supplies, but no passengers.

She got a go-ahead late in the day as did the French liner Normandie and the British Aquitania and Transylvania after much shorter examinations—from Harry M. Durning, collector of the port. He said no contraband or weapons were found on any of them.

The Normandie nevertheless stayed on indefinitely in port. The last of a series of brief and contradictory orders from Paris said she probably would not sail "at any time today or in the early hours of tomorrow." She was scheduled to leave this morning.

No explanation for the Paris orders was offered, but it was assumed here the French owners wanted the great Normandie safe in harbor pending further European developments.

Two Escape When Stage Takes Roll

PIONEER, B.C., Aug. 30 (CP).—Two visitors from Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, escaped from an automobile stage here today just before it rolled down the street and over a 300-foot bank when the emergency brake failed to hold.

Louis Santini, driver, had left the vehicle in front of a hotel here while he went into the building to collect mail.

No other passengers were in the bus.

TWO DIE IN CRASH
CLE ELUM, Wash., Aug. 30 (AP).—Two Seattle youths were injured fatally five others injured, four of them critically, when their light car plunged from the Sunset Highway into Lake Keechelus tonight. The two killed were Dell Bender, seventeen, and Ralph Murphy, nineteen.

Support Pledged By Conservative Chief In Time of Crisis

R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P., Heard in Eloquent Address Before Conservative Rally at Willows Beach Yesterday—United Stand Urged

URING declaration of Canada's loyalty to the British Commonwealth in a time of world crisis, and a full offer of support to Liberal administrations in power in Canada while the emergency exists, were keynotes in an eloquent address made by R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P., yesterday before Beach yesterday—United Stand Urged

The Provincial Conservative Leader of the Opposition and Provincial Conservative chief, said, in part:

"In these times of crisis many are wondering why Canada has not spoken. I say to you now that it matters not whether the Prime Minister speaks or not, the heart and the soul of the people of Canada will be side by side with the Empire. The Royal visit demonstrated that. If trouble does come, Canada will be found precisely where she was during a time of crisis, Mr. Maitland, in an eloquent address, which avoided political shafts and pledged the co-operation of the Conservative party in British Columbia fully to the administration in power during a time of crisis, Mr. Maitland,

POLICE HUNT FOR MISSING OFFICER

Lieut.-Commander, of Halifax Naval Dockyard, Unheard From Since Monday—Accident Feared

HALIFAX, Aug. 30 (CP).—Royal Canadian Mounted Police tonight pushed a search for Lieut.-Commander E. W. Finch-Noyes, thirty, signal officer of the naval dockyard here.

A circular said he was last seen on Monday, in naval uniform. He was driving a car with Nova Scotia license plates.

Police suggest he might have met with an accident or have suffered an attack of amnesia.

Officials declined to comment on his disappearance but a high police authority said "it is highly important that we find this officer."

London Calmly Goes About Preparedness In Case War Comes

Railways Give Instructions to Passengers—Historical Documents Being Moved Into Country—Stock Exchange to Go to Bucks for Safety

LONDON, Aug. 30. (P.)—This capital of Empire appeared tonight to have become accustomed to crisis. . . . But a survey of this evening's news showed the usual flood of stories on defence measures when it hardly seemed possible anything had been left undone, so thorough have been preparations.

Railways issued instructions to passengers concerning what to do in air raids. The Food Defence Department issued regulations assuring there will be no interruption of food distribution. People were asked to restrict purchases to normal needs, so as not to create a needless "run" on groceries.

While the King and the Duke of Gloucester visited the Service Offices in Whitehall, squads of workers put finishing touches to bomb-proof shelters under Buckingham Palace. Newspapers said that Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose may stay with Queen Mary at Sandringham Palace in the event of emergency.

Pandora Avenue to Be Smooth Route

Progress is being made by Carter, Halls, Aldinger, Ltd., on regrading and resurfacing Pandora Avenue from Fernwood Road to Oak Bay Junction. The above photograph shows a large power shovel loading the old pavement material on a truck at the junction. When completed, Pandora Avenue will be a smooth route from the City Hall to the junction of Fort Street. Alderman Edward Williams, chairman of the City Council public works committee, estimates that much of the dense traffic will be diverted from the narrow portion of Fort Street.

Unexplained Explosion Shatters Office—One Dead, Six Hurt

HAMILTON, Aug. 30. (P.)—Three thousand detonator caps, touched off in some unknown manner, shattered the office in a city works department yesterday and brought death to the man in whose charge they were placed. Six others, including a woman clerk, were hurt in the blast that caused $10,000 damage.

The caps, seized by police in recent anti-sabotage precautions undertaken here, were stored in a basement cupboard. As William Nicol opened the box to make his regular check, the caps exploded with a report heard for blocks around. Nicol, his arm blown off and the rest of his body horribly mangled, died in hospital a few hours later.

But it was indicated Hitler's flat demands still are for Danzig and the Polish Corridor from Poland.

Goering, as head of the new inner Cabinet group, will exert authority second only to that of the Fuehrer. The decree was issued after Cabinet consultations which started in the afternoon and lasted almost until midnight.

It was immediately read over all Reich radio stations to anxious citizens who sat up late at their receiving sets learned immediately Germany had taken one more significant step in preparation for any emergency.

An authoritative German spokesman said that formation of the new ministerial council was "a precautionary measure in case of an additional step to this development." Berlin learned that Albert Forster, recently appointed Nazi "Chief of State" of Danzig, had suddenly arrived in the German capital.

The significance of Forster's visit at this crucial moment was not immediately disclosed.

BOARD ORDERS SCHOOL CLOSED

Request of Ratepayers to Keep Craigflower Institution Open Is Refused

By unanimous vote, the Saanich School Board, at a special meeting last night, decided to close Craigflower School. The decision was reached by the trustees after official notification had been given them by G. S. Newstead, secretary of the Craigflower rural school area, that the board had decided to conclude its agreement with Saanich.

It was reported at the meeting that some fifty pupils from the View Royal area would be withdrawn from the school.

Between ninety-five and one hundred Saanich children, who formerly went to Craigflower School, would be absorbed in other institutions. It was stated that 100 pupils could be accommodated at Tillicum School, where a majority of the children affected may be sent.

Earlier in the meeting, the board interviewed a delegation from the request of Craigflower ratepayers, who requested that the elementary school be kept open as a four-room institution.

COMMUNITY BENEFIT
In moving that the Craigflower School be closed, Trustee Dr. Stanley P. Miles said that he felt it was to the benefit of the children and the community in general.

"We have the future to think about," he said. "The thought that must be uppermost in our minds is consolidation. If we are to get the equipment that schools must have at the present rate, Saanich is not in a position to provide it for thirteen elementary schools. What I want to see in Saanich is a bus system and five elementary schools," he concluded.

Other members of the board expressed the view that the closure was in the best interests of the children affected and the municipality in general.

Four teachers will be affected by the new move. Those concerned are G. S. Taylor, former principal at Craigflower; Miss J. G. McConnell; Miss E. K. Styan and Victor Thompson.

Mr. Thompson will be transferred to Tillicum School, where he will be

SEES HOPE FOR LASTING PEACE

Sir Edward Beatty Believes Continuance of Talk Is Good Sign

VANCOUVER, Aug. 30. (P.)—Hope that the current European crisis will end peacefully in a "readjustment" of world affairs leading to a lasting peace was expressed here tonight by Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

"I do not know more than anyone else about the prospects of peace," Sir Edward said in an interview. "The fact that the exchange of views between the governments concerned is continuing is not an unfavorable sign."

If war came, he said, it would find the British people prepared. He commented on the strong morale which he noted in Britain during a recent visit.

If a permanent peace brought a shutdown in the armament industry, Sir Edward added, he thought the United Kingdom would have little difficulty in absorbing the slack, although other European nations might require assistance in meeting the ensuing unemployment.

He said the "silver lining" of the present crisis was that the Soviet-German non-aggression pact would result in Japan pursuing a more peaceful course in the Orient, with consequent benefit to Canada.

COMING TO VICTORIA

Sir Edward, who will spend the weekend in Victoria, said that many of the C.P.R. plans for the future are dependent on whether there is peace or war.

In this respect he cited plans to transfer one of the "Duchess" liners from the Atlantic to the Vancouver-Australian route. He said negotiations for the transfer are under way, but "in the event of war and the inevitable commandeering of tonnage by the British Government, it is not likely that our plans can be made effective."

The possibility of war also affected plans to establish new tonnage on the Canadian-Australian route. In the event of conflict he thought it unlikely "that we will be able to construct new tonnage at prices which would be attractive."

Sir Edward said this year's Prairie grain crop will "unquestionably" have a favorable influence on the revenues of the C.P.R. and on the prosperity of Canada. The possibility of heavier movement of grain through Vancouver depended largely upon the availability of ships on the Pacific.

WAR AND TRAVEL

Sir Edward said that the fear of war has had an "accelerating" effect on travel rather than in creating a movement of new traffic. So long as the fear of war existed, passenger travel would be limited.

He said the outbreak of hostilities would unquestionably affect adversely steamship and rail passenger revenue, "as a few of our ships have already been commandeered by the British Government and more will likely be taken."

If war breaks out, "the Canadian people will be solidly lined up with Great Britain."

Sir Edward said no decision has yet been reached regarding the disposition of the old Hotel Vancouver which was left vacant last May when the C.P.R. and Canadian National Railways began joint operation of the new Hotel Vancouver.

HOLDING THEIR JOBS

EDMONTON, Aug. 30. (P.)—Positions and seniority of Alberta civil servants who volunteer for active service overseas in case of a European war, will be protected, Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works, said today.

CALLED TO COLORS

NEW YORK, Aug. 30. (P.)—The Rumanian restaurant at the New York World's Fair closed today because thirty-five of its employees were called home to fill posts they hold in the reservist army.

OIL SHUTDOWN NEARING CLOSE

Oklahoma Whittles Its Daily Production Allowance—Texas to Follow Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 30. (P.)—Oklahoma whittled its daily crude oil production allowable 43,850 barrels today and Texas prepared to follow suit with a 175,000-barrel slash as the six-state oil field shutdown neared a close.

The Oklahoma Corporation Commission set the state's daily allowable for September at 384,950 barrels, compared with the 428,000 figure which had prevailed several months.

In Austin, the Texas Railroad Commission indicated it would reduce the current allowable of 1,285,000 barrels daily to 1,210,000 in September. A state-wide hearing is scheduled September 11.

The production holiday followed a wave of price-cutting by major purchasing companies. A general trend towards rescinding the lower postwar for crude led to the decision to reopen the mid-continent fields.

Texas reopened its wells today. Louisiana also allowed pumping today. Arkansas began lifting restrictions gradually last week. Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico production resumes on Friday.

ABBAY IS CLOSED

LONDON, Aug. 30. (P.)—The Royal chapel in Westminster Abbey was closed today, following the removal of statues from the tombs of British Kings and the placing of sandbags around the tombs.

STARTS RECRUITING

SIX SUCCESSFUL IN EXAMINATIONS

Candidates Are Awarded Certificates and Medallions for Passing Life-Saving Tests

Four girls and one boy qualified for the Royal Life Saving Society intermediate certificates and bronze medallions in examinations held at Thetis Lake yesterday. They were Kathleen V. Ryan, Myrtle E. Cooke, Dora M. Pendray and Kay H. Alexander. In addition, Marion J. Pendray received the intermediate certificate and will qualify for the bronze medallion later.

The tests were given by W. T. Stanton, examiner for the society, who stated that he was well satisfied with the knowledge shown by the candidates. They have revealed a thorough grasp of the theoretical side of life-saving, and had also performed practical demonstrations in a satisfactory manner.

The candidates for the certificates and medallions were members of a swimming and life-saving class conducted by Bob Smith, men's captain of the Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club, who has been acting as life guard at Thetis Lake during the summer months.

SAYS POSITION OF FIRM GOOD

Assistant General Manager of Mutual Life Addresses Insurance Men

The most valuable asset of a life insurance company was the confidence of the public, A. E. Pequegnat, assistant general manager of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, told members of the company's Leaders' Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday morning.

Mr. Pequegnat's address concluded the business sessions of the Leaders' Club convention, which opened here on Wednesday morning. Top-ranking life insurance underwriters from the company's western offices have been attending the convention meetings, and enjoying sightseeing drives and other entertainment as guests of the Victoria Mutual Life staff.

His company had been exceptionally fortunate in the degree of public confidence it enjoyed, Mr. Pequegnat said. He considered it of the greatest importance that this confidence should be preserved, and stated that the responsibility for maintaining it lay primarily with the company's insurance salesmen.

INVESTMENTS UP
He declared that, although insurance investments in Canada had shown a great increase recently, the optimum was still far from being reached. It had been estimated by experts that it was desirable to have from 15 to 20 per cent of incomes invested in life insurance policies. At the present time, only approximately 7 per cent of incomes in Canada and the United States went to this purpose.

Prior to Mr. Pequegnat's address, a paper on group insurance by H. S. Robertson, group insurance supervisor at the company's headquarters in Waterloo, Ontario, was read to the convention delegates. It was followed by a general discussion, in which attention was drawn to the growing importance of group insurance in the industrial field.

C. M. Dunn, former Saskatchewan Minister of Highways, expressed thanks of the delegates for the hospitality tendered them during their stay here.

During the afternoon, the visitors enjoyed a salmon derby at Brentwood, which was won by Mrs. Harold Clarke, of Grande Prairie, Saskatchewan. The delegates will have free time for shopping and sightseeing this morning and will leave for the Mainland on the 1:45 p.m. boat.

STILL ON THE BRINK

The world remains on the brink of an era of bloodshed while Herr Hitler, perhaps seized with trepidation because of the event that he has purposely made possible, has for the moment turned his thoughts to the eventuality of winning a diplomatic triumph which will give him a new instalment of Lebensraum. His exchange of notes with Great Britain continues. What they contain remains secret, and how zealously the contents have been guarded is illustrated by the fact that most of the newsprint indulged in has proved at fault. The nations have returned to secret diplomacy, which is perhaps as well so that unrestrained passions may not be aroused in a situation more delicate even than that which preceded the Great War.

Whatever pronouncements there have been to the contrary the tension continues unrelaxed. That is illustrated by the intensification of military preparations. Europe grows more and more on a war footing. Whatever optimism has crept into public appreciation of the situation is fostered alone by the belief that every day's delay in the launch of an attack on Poland means a diminishing possibility that such an outrage will be perpetrated. The wish is, of course, rather to the thought that peace will ensue, and it is a wish in the hearts of hundreds of millions of earth's population. No one may foretell the event to befall, not even the British or the German Government at the moment. The certainty is that Herr Hitler is just as adamant in his demand for the cession of Danzig and the Corridor as the mutual assistance powers are determined to oppose the German purpose being made possible by a war of aggression.

There the situation stands. It may resolve itself into mediation, but from the experience of the past, there will be no iron-bound guarantee that new crises will not develop. That is the tragedy of the present state of world affairs, that there is a ruler of a great power with unlimited authority whose word may not be trusted and who does not regard international treaties to which he is a signatory as having any binding significance. It is for those now linked together with non-aggression purposes to devise a course of action, if it can be devised, which, if only for a term of years, will free the world from war's alarms and the consequent wear and tear on the nerves of humanity.

It is a curious commentary on the progress of civilization that such a situation should exist in these times. One man holds the issue of peace or war in his hands and there seems the greatest difficulty, despite the pleas of an outraged world, to persuade him to mitigate his ambition. Because of that ambition Europe is an armed camp. The peaceful pursuits of mankind have been disrupted by military preparations. There is a pall of fear of the worst kind overhanging humanity. Whatever optimism prevails as to the outcome it is still overshadowed by the thought that the worst may only be postponed and not finally averted.

DEMOCRACY'S TREND

Dr. L. P. Jacks. In a parable of modern times, has given his conception of what democracy was originally intended to be and what it is becoming. The book is entitled "The Last Legend of Smokeover," and no one even cursorily informed on political history can doubt the basic truth of much that he says. The gist of what emerges from a discussion among his imaginary figures is that the original meaning of democracy was "a way of life," the "way of the good neighbor" who would be protected at danger-points by a few restrictions freely accepted. Democracy when conceived was a human rather than a political enterprise—"a method of social education rather than a form of government." It began, says Dr. Jacks, "as a human revolt against the inhuman tyranny of the political state." The intention of the founders was not to give the people an unlimited power to make laws, and so encourage law-making to the utmost, but, on the contrary, to reduce law-making to the minimum necessary for the common safety. He believes, with Plato, that in a true democracy government would be subordinated to education. Dr. Jacks is of opinion that democracy has forsaken its first ideal. "The children," he says, "have fallen into the trap from which the fathers sought to escape. Contrary to the original intention, democracy has become, primarily, a system of government in which the people, or their representatives, tend to indulge their law-making propensities to the maximum possible, instead of restricting them to the minimum necessary; a system which defeats the way of life, the way of free co-operation, which democracy was originally intended to promote. Lawmaking has now got the bit in its teeth and democracy, at its old age, is rapidly reinstating the tyranny against which it revolted in its youth. Our parliaments have become, law factories."

The plain evidence of facts sustains what Dr. Jacks says. Each succeeding generation finds itself burdened with a heavier load of legislation and a proportionate load of taxation. "It gaily proceeds to increase the burden for an equally helpless posterity. . . . The unfortunate sheep find themselves more closely penned in and shorn nearer the skin. As the pen closes round them 'no taxation without representation' vanishes, and 'no representation without taxation' takes its place—and increasing taxation at that." Dr. Jacks points the moral by an ancient allusion.

"It is related," he says, "that in the reign of Dionysius the Tyrant, who taxed his subjects more cruelly than any King who had ruled in Syracuse, a woman was in the habit of going to the temple every morning to pray the gods that Dionysius might live for ever. When asked by the Elders of the city why she prayed in a manner so contrary to the general interest of Syracuse she replied: 'Because, O my masters, his successor, whoever he may be, will certainly tax us more cruelly than Dionysius!'

CONFISCATED

On August 16 all copies of The Times, London, reaching Berlin were confiscated by the secret police. The reason was a leading article under the title "The Whole Peace Front." This happening illustrates how thin-skinned officialdom in Germany is; how it resents criticism; the extent to which it is seeking to remove Germans as to the actual state of the situation. The Times pointed out that the "peace front" in Europe was an answer to the lessons of March last. It recalled the agreement entered into last September by Herr Hitler upon the future of Czechoslovakia. Then it commented upon Herr Hitler's subsequent response "to the acid test of good faith," going on to say: "The 'peace front' commemorates the falsity of his appeal to self-determination and a monstrous betrayal of Germany's plight." In face of this past, of the suppression and spoliation now proceeding in Czech territory, and of the demands on Poland, the military significance of the new grouping in Europe is and must remain paramount.

The leading article went on to point out that in the end nations must agree or fight, and that "the intermediate 'war without guns' cannot last indefinitely, nor can the temporary advantage it has conferred upon Governments which have exploited for their own purposes the healthy detestation of war that is common to all civilized men." The contention advanced is that "if there is to be progress towards a truly organized peace, disarmament must come, the Nazi interpretation of Lebensraum must go, and the Czechs must be set free to exercise their right of self-government. Moreover, legitimate aspirations in the colonial field must be, as they can be, satisfied without any question of reverting to the old conception of peoples and territories as chattels for exchange."

These are statements to which German officialdom takes exception. It is not admitted at Berlin that Herr Hitler violated the Munich Settlement. It is sought to delude the German people as to the intention of Great Britain to go to war "to frustrate a German assault upon the independence of Poland." Even now, after all the happenings and statements of the past week, the secret police of Germany, by official instruction, are preventing information from reaching the people. Germany is copying Russian methods in attempting to impose the governmental viewpoint, and nothing else, as the only instrument in the formation of public opinion. That is how totalitarianism works.

ECONOMY IN FOOD

In a pamphlet, issued in Great Britain, entitled "Your Food in War Time," the statement appears: "In war time there would be no food to waste." An English correspondent points out that the inference is obvious, "and it reflects only too truly the national attitude to waste." The same correspondent says she is learning the virtues of thrift from a Swiss cook. "Not a crumb is wasted; bricks are made apparently without straw; delicious soups from what the average English cook throws away. Yet when a crisis due to the defection of the butcher was averted by her conversion of some scraps into a delicious dish for lunch that fed the household, the remark of one of her colleagues was characteristic: 'You Swiss are worse than the Scotch.' Those households in Great Britain who remember the Great War, and the constant threat to the imports of food supplies, will practise economy should such an emergency arise again, but for the newer generation the campaign of education against waste will have to be intensified.

Affection in any part of our carriage is lighting up a candle to our defects, and never fails to make us taken notice of, either as wanting sense or sincerity.—Locke.

Northern Italy May Become Battlefield If Conflict Starts

Military Observers Vision Decisive Fighting With French and British Driving Through Alpine Passes—Western Front Would Be Stalemate

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Northern Italy may be the scene of some of the earliest decisive fighting of the new European war—if it comes—with a French-British army striking through the Alpine passes against the heart of industrial Italy.

This is the opinion of neutral military observers and some retired British and French officers in London. They base it on four conditions:

1. Italy will not remain neutral, but will enter the fight on the side of Germany.
2. Germany's Siegfried line and France's Maginot line will stalemate each other along the old western front for at least a year, perhaps longer.
3. Germany, fearing a wave of hostile world feeling if the rights of small nations are disregarded, will not invade France through Belgium or Holland.
4. Polish resistance will require the attention of at least half the German army for six months or more.

"Under those conditions it is easy to see why the theatre of war should shift to Northern Italy," one officer said. "That is the industrial region; the munition industry is centred in Turin. A break through and subsequent destruction of these plants would force Italy to call on Germany's none too extensive military stores, cripple Italy's fighting forces."

It is no secret that the French general staff has considered two possibilities: An Italian-German invasion of Southern France and a French invasion of Northern Italy. The former, reputedly the plan of some Italian strategists, has received scant encouragement from experienced Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italy's first soldier, officers here report.

The character of the land, which makes an Italian blow at Southern France a hazardous undertaking, favors the French. The passes through the Alps at Mont Cenis and Mont Genevre converge as they near the French frontier.

"With sufficient artillery the French could hold that road forever," said one expert. "Going into Italy, the reverse is true. The passes spread out, the land slopes away toward smoking favorites and rich fields. Given a number of roads over which to advance, the French could find the Italians out of position exactly as a boxer leads with one hand to pull away his opponent's guard and let the decision punch go through. Or so army observers here believe."

History shows Italy can be invaded. Hannibal did it. Napoleon did it—although he marched his ragged army through the passes of the Maritime Alps farther south. Thus a French invasion of Italy would follow proved military strategy.

The possibility of secondary operations even more dangerous to the Axis armies was advanced by one observer. "It is also possible the French could march across Italy, swing northward and feint at Austria. Such a manoeuvre would draw a considerable number of German divisions away from their Eastern and Western fronts, Poland and the Siegfried line."

"I am convinced the latter will be smashed only when the French and British boast an overwhelming preponderance of men and guns, which they would then have."

Italy, extending into the Mediterranean and with the Tyrrhenian and Adriatic Seas on either side, is considered by naval experts to be vulnerable, by reason of her geographic situation to attack from the combined British and French Mediterranean fleets.

Should her fleet be swept out of the way, her long coasts might be subject to a raking from British-French guns.

The main body of the British fleet, already believed in position, would be expected to crack down the North Sea blockade, which was largely credited with bringing hungry Germany to her knees in the Great War.

The British Navy alone is considered stronger in most respects than the combined Italian and German fleets.

A new element, in the event of war, will be the debated question of the vulnerability of ships to aircraft attack.

Military men admit British and French aid to Poland will be a tremendous task: the annihilation of Poland's army the primary German objective.

"The Germans cannot allow the Poles to remain uncoupled for long," said one. "Such an army."

ried in official circles, said he was insisting, however, upon return of the Free City of Danzig and the Polish Corridor to the Reich.

RACE IN ARMAMENT

Although the general situation looked easier at the moment, in view of the prolongation of negotiations between Berlin and London, Great Britain, France and Poland took extra military precautions during the day. This was not because they expected nothing to come of the negotiations, but was a reflection of their grim determination to go to war with Germany if Hitler chooses to push his claims by force.

Hitler still must make up his mind whether force or reason will prevail in Europe, but the war jittery nations were taking solace in the fact that negotiations toward a peaceful settlement had not broken down.

Visitors at the Foreign Office today included the United States, French, Japanese, The Netherlands, Chinese and Greek Ambassadors.

The King called at the War Ministry and the Air Ministry to make a check on preparedness measures. Later he received the Prime Minister for a report on the latest diplomatic developments.

Foreign Office officials were up most of last night deciphering Hitler's message and drafting a reply.

A rough draft of the reply was approved by today's special Cabinet meeting.

Mr. Chamberlain received Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the Labor Opposition, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal party, to review the situation with them. They concluded there was no need for the immediate recall of Parliament as a result of Hitler's note.

Mr. Greenwood, after his talk with the Prime Minister, had interviews with the Air Secretary, Sir Kingsley Wood, and War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha on defence measures.

Crowds continued to pack Downing Street and to cheer Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Halifax as they came and went from their numerous conferences.

At one time there was a cry of "God Bless Lord Halifax" when the Foreign Secretary left the Prime Minister's residence. There also were cheers for Mr. Hore-Belisha.

Crews of workmen continued to pile sandbags around buildings throughout the city. Emergency trenches were being dug around several large blocks of flats to supplement air raid shelters.

September army manoeuvres scheduled to begin shortly in Yorkshire were canceled.

Schools were ready to move out children at a moment's notice. An informed source said children might be required to attend school on Saturday and Sunday as precautionary measures. This would "facilitate their mass evacuation to rural sections in event of war raids."

TAKES OVER RAILWAYS
PARIS, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Government tonight ordered all railroads turned over to the army as France put finishing touches on its preparations for war while awaiting the outcome of German-British negotiations for peace.

The decree, which took effect at once, meant all civilian passenger and commercial traffic will be either suspended or "curtailed" to meet the army's needs for transportation of troops, guns and supplies.

Trains on the road may be shunted onto a siding at the next station and unloaded.

In further preparation for possible war, General Maxime Weygand, seventy-two-year-old Great War hero and former commander-in-chief of the army, arrived in French-mandated Syria during the day and was reported in military circles to have been chosen to be commander of the allied French, British and Turkish forces in the Near East if war should come.

The Government's fourth urgent warning to all civilian residents of Paris to leave the city, made public only a few hours before the railroad requisition, still referred to "un-

ELEVEN WILL GO TO POST

Blue Peter Still Strong Favorite to Win St. Leger Next Week

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—The Earl of Rosebery's Blue Peter, winner of the Derby and Two Thousand Guineas, was held a 6-to-5 favorite today to win the St. Leger at Doncaster September 6, as the field was whittled down to eleven final acceptors for the third of the year's classics for which colts are eligible. Victory for Lord Rosebery's three-year-old son of Fairway out of Fancy Free would make him the first Derby winner to score the "triple classic" since the Aga Khan's Bahram turned the trick in 1925. Pharis II is second choice at 5 to 2, with Abbot Maitre next at 10 to 1. The list and jockeys follow: Quick Ray (G. Richardson); Pharis II (Eliot); Heliopolis (Perryman); Fair Chance (Mayer); Wheatland (Burns); Tamworth; Maudslayi (Muir); Bold Devil; Blue Peter (E. ## ARCADE ALLEYS TO OPEN DOORS

Fort Street Bowling Establishment Ready Tomorrow For Local Turnouts

Popular rendezvous of Victoria trundlers for many years, the Arcade Alleys, Fort Street, will open wide its doors tomorrow, heralding the approach of another season with the pin-spillers. During the past two weeks, tradesmen have been busy renovating the premises and giving them the annual "clean-up" preparatory to the season's opening. The maple runways have all been sanded, and new wood has been placed where the alleys were worn.

Inspection of the runways by a representative of the American Bowling Congress was completed yesterday, and the alleys are reported in first-class condition. While league play will not get under way for a few weeks, bowlers will take advantage of the opening to "loosen up," for the annual fixtures will attract many bowlers throughout the winter months. Interest in the pin-spilling game promises to climb upwards this season, and with their quarters completely renovated and the alleys resanded,

Canadian Scottish Win Pacific Coast Honors

COMPETING against entries from Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco, Victoria's champion pipers, the Canadian Scottish Regimental Band, won the Pacific Coast pipe band championship at the Scottish Day celebrations held last Saturday at the San Francisco Exposition. Individual piping honors were won by Piper A. MacMillan, first in strathspeys and reels; Piper J. MacMillan, second in the pibroch; Corporal Piper F. Knight, first in both marches and strathspeys and reels; while dancing honors were won by Piper James MacBeth, who gained a second in the Sean Truibhais.

The band traveled through the courtesy of Colonel J. R. Kingham, commanding officer of the regiment, and was in charge of Major J. D. Horne. Credit for the victory was attributed to Piper-Major Donald Cameron, of the Second Battalion, who directed the band; and to Piper-Major Alex Wallace, of the First Battalion, who was responsible for setting the chanters and tuning the pipes. The band arrived back in Victoria on Tuesday night, and members paid tribute to the hospitality extended to them. En route they were met at Seattle by the brass band of the 6th Engineers, which transported their luggage to the train; and the Engineers also met them on their return and entertained them at Fort Lawton. In San Francisco, the members

May Offer Amendment—A small amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act may be offered by the Provincial Government at the Fall session, Attorney-General Wismer announced yesterday, on his return from the Mainland. Pedestrians may be obliged to walk on the left-hand side of the road, facing motor traffic, at night, if using the highways then, he said.

Storm Cuts Wires—Telephone and telegraph wires in the Pouce Coupe district of the Peace River were interrupted yesterday by a sudden storm, which also carried away a highway bridge at Shirley Point, wireless advice to headquarters of the Provincial Police said. The storm was attended by high winds and heavy rains, messages stated, but no persons were reported hurt.

Carpet Donated—Alderman T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the City Council decorations committee, announced yesterday that large squares of the Royal wall carpet had been given to St. Joseph's and the Jubilee Hospitals, the Aged and Infirmary Men's and Women's Homes, Queen Alexandra Soldiers' and the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan. Further distributions will be made Up-Island next week.

May Reduce Herring—Herring reduction will be permitted in British Columbia waters again this season, Hon. G. S. Pearson announced yesterday. For the present, no limit was put to the catch that may be used for reduction in oil and meal plants, due to adverse conditions in the salt fish market abroad. A number of plants operate on the east and west coasts of Vancouver Island, with a few elsewhere.

Five American Pilots Coming
Symes, McMurtry, Renning, Walling and Rentz Will Race Saturday

American and Canadian automobile pilots will guide their speed wagons around the popular Langford racing strip again on Saturday evening, when Promotor Jack Taylor, local car racing impresario, presents another of his weekly thrill shows. The programme will open at 7:45 o'clock, and if earlier attendances are any criterion, another bumper crowd of automobile racing fans will be on hand to see the drivers go after the "pot of gold" which goes to the winner.

Even racing machines are ready for action with six Canadian and five American speed demons all set for the various events. Heading the United States contingent will be

Dance Held At Ganges As Farewell

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Crofton were hosts on Monday evening when they entertained over 130 guests at one of the most delightful dances held on Salt Spring Island. The party, which took place at Harbor House Hotel, Ganges, was given for the dual purpose of celebrating the twenty-first birthday of Mrs. Crofton's son, Mr. Donald Corbett, and as a farewell from the host and hostess and family to their many friends before leaving the island to make their home in Victoria.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The hall and reception rooms were arranged with dahlias, chrysanthemums, roses and sweet peas. The sun-room, where dancing took place, and the dining-room were both gay with flowers and vari-colored lights strung across ceilings and walls. On the tables, one of which was centered with an attractive birthday cake, surmounted by its twenty-one candles, vases of phlox and verbena were placed.

The toast of the evening was proposed by Mr. T. F. Speed, an old friend of Mr. Corbett's late father, and humorously replied to by the guest of honor. Mrs. Desmond Crofton spoke of her many years on the island, and a few words were added by Mr. Desmond Crofton. Mr. Corbett was the recipient of many attractive gifts. After the toasts, dancing was enjoyed to the strains of a three-piece orchestra.

Amongst those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. St. P. Aitkens, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Baker, Captain and Mrs. H. A. Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. R. Rush, Mrs. W. E. Scott, Dr. E. M. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. F. Scott, Mrs. Leigh Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. Clegg, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Crofton, Mrs. Jack Hazlewood, Mr. and Mrs.

Anglo-Saxon Jewels Found

The photograph shows a pair of hinged gold clasps, jeweled with garnet and mosaic glass; massive gold buckle (centre top) decorated with animal patterns; chased and ornamented with Niello (black enamel filling), and the gold frame of a purse flap jeweled with garnet and enriched with filigree. All these objects and many others are personal ornaments presumably of the date of the burial of an Anglo-Saxon king near Woodbridge, Suffolk, about 630 A.D. The jewels are exceptionally fine specimens.

SAYS BOND POSTED
One of the Federal officers at the scene said the Hamburg-American Line had posted the amount of bond necessary to gain the twenty-five passengers' release. There was no official confirmation of the amount.

The passengers have been prevented from leaving the Portland by a law prohibiting foreign vessels from carrying American passengers directly from one American port to another and landing them there, under penalty of $300 fine for each passenger. The Portland came here from Port Gamble, another Puget Sound port. Most of the passengers boarded the vessel at San Francisco for the round-trip north, and had expected to be home tomorrow.

The ship had been scheduled to call at Vancouver, B.C. Earlier today the ship's first officer, Ernest Swenger, when asked when the Portland would sail, said: "We won't risk taking the ship

During the day, the ship's passengers engaged in recreational pastimes aboard the ship, or on the dock, with some treating their situation as a lark and others frankly irritated by the upset of their plans. They all agreed, however, that the food and German beer that was provided them at no extra cost, was excellent.

Tonight's disembarking was reported to have followed a visit to the ship late today by the German consul from Seattle.

United States customs officials at Seattle tonight denied the passengers were being released from the Portland, and declined to discuss the case. They were active in conferences.

tainous 250-mile frontier with Poland. A Government decree said German law prevailed in the small nation over which Fuehrer Hitler established a protectorate last March, when he finally partitioned Czechoslovakia. Hitler then also guaranteed Slovakia's independence for twenty-five years.

Premier Josef Tiso of Slovakia hailed the German military occupation as guaranteeing the nation's independence "against the Polish menace."

Trains crowded with German soldiers were running on all Slovakia's main rail routes, while civilian traffic was almost at a standstill.

Squadrons of German pursuit planes and heavy bombers continually passed over Bratislava, bound north for Slovak airports.

From Premier Tiso down, officials of the "independent" Slovak Government insisted Slovak soldiers and Hlinka guardsmen (members of the ruling party's military organization) must fight "shoulder to shoulder" with German troops.

WARNS POPULATION

"I warn the population," the Premier said, "that the administration of Slovakia is in the hands of the German army command, and every Slovak who offends its orders will have to answer before German military courts and be punishable under German laws."

In conformance with a decree, Slovaks had to provide automobiles, homes, cars, foodstuffs and other materials as required by the German army.

With press and radio under control, no Slovak reaction was publicly apparent to Premier Tiso's claim that entry of the German army "completely secured the independence of Slovakia."

It was declared privately, however, that Slovakia would face a severe food shortage if the German occupation continued indefinitely. Official figures published in July showed Slovakia's supply of grain would barely suffice for her own population through the winter.

Supplies of meat, lard and sugar were exhausted at many stores in the capital.

No Government source would or could say where the nation's army of 30,000 men, reinforced by the mobilization of several reserve classes, was now stationed. The main barracks of Bratislava were vacant. Travelers returning from the high Tatras Mountains, along the Polish border, reported they had seen Slovak regiments there.

ROME CONFIDENT

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP)—Premier Mussolini was represented by informed Italians today as putting his whole weight on the side of a comprehensive settlement of German and Italian claims against Great Britain, France and Poland.

"Out with Versailles!" was the keynote of an apparently directly inspired editorial in the Duce's Milan newspaper, the Popolo d'Italia. To Italians the Versailles Treaty, already badly shredded, stands for the post-war domination of Great Britain and France in Europe and Africa.

Prospects for a peaceful settlement were considered brighter in Rome. The Italian press, which has been speaking of a decision within a few hours, said today "a few days" remained to know the answer to the question of war or peace.

Italians centred their hopes on frequent consultations between Fuehrer Hitler and Mussolini, who is believed to be counselling moderation.

Hope also found in the careful negotiations between Berlin and London.

CANNON STILL SILENT

"The cannon have not yet sounded," the newspaper La Tribuna said, "and the exchange of views between the Fuehrer and Great Britain is under way, including consideration of developments going beyond the causes—not to say the pretext of the present conflict."

Furthermore the very caution which the two parties have imposed on themselves means that there is at least the possibility of further discussions.

Envoys to the Vatican of Great Britain, France, Poland, Yugoslavia and Italy meanwhile saw Luigi Cardinal Maglione, Papal Secretary of State, who in turn had a two-hour talk with Pope Pius.

An Italian informant said the Italian Ambassador to the Holy See, Count Pignatelli Monteleone, had assured Pope Pius the German-Soviet non-aggression pact did not alter the anti-Communist policy of the Rome-Berlin axis.

Daughter—"Going to bed, mother? Aren't you waiting up for dad?"

BY PARTY CHIEF

before, at the side of the Motherland, giving her all the help she can. "That is what is in the heart of the Canadian people at this moment. It is a heart that believes in liberty; believes in the right of a man to speak freely, to print what he will print, to think what he wishes, and to listen on the radio or otherwise to that which he wishes to hear."

"Go back 600 years in our history. See step by step what it was that won democracy out of feudal times and serfdom. Go back to Runnymede, the Magna Charta, the Bill of Rights. Those things gave us our liberties, and will not be surrendered. The Conservative party believes in those things and is helping today to keep them alive and vital. "This is not the time for an acrimonious discussion of British Columbia affairs. The Conservative party has not been resorting to criticism, but preaching policies—policies for the men on the land, policies to help labor, policies to do away with patronage, and build up the business, resources and the assets of our people in British Columbia. But we are prepared in a time of crisis to lay that for the moment aside."

OFFERS ALL SUPPORT

"If we should find ourselves in an emergency, I propose to give the Government of British Columbia every opportunity to bend the whole of their efforts to help Canada and the Empire. We will co-operate in every way possible, forgetting ourselves in the greater need of the country. I must regret, however, that at a time such as this the Cabinet is not here; that the Premier is away flying, and some of his ministers shuttling backwards and forwards between here and the Peace River. During these times they should be here."

Mr. Maitland digressed for a moment to reply to an Eastern financial journal, in which had appeared the headline: "Is the Province of British Columbia Going Socialist?"

The article, he said, had been based on a review of the legislation of the Patullo administration, and the actions of the C.C.F. party, inside and outside of the Legislature. British Columbia, he declared, was not going Socialist, but was rapidly going Conservative, as the next provincial test at the polls would disclose.

In conclusion, Mr. Maitland congratulated Junior Conservatives on one of the best rallies held in the city in recent times. Sustained applause followed an address delivered with vigor and humor.

TESTING TIMES

Other speakers touched briefly on the gathering war clouds in Europe. Mr. Anscombe said the times were serious for mankind and for civilization. Rumors were afloat which, if credited, might presage a great catastrophe for the world. At this moment, he declared, Canada should have made plain her stand alongside Britain. If trouble came, Canada would be in a testing time for people, trade and all normal life. Of the eventual outcome there was, he said, no doubt.

Dr. Hunter spoke in similar vein.

It was a time to lay aside political advantage and unite in whatever was best for the country and for the Empire at large. Conditions in Europe appeared critical, with no decision emerging as yet. Policies of aggression could only be met and stopped in one way; and if the issue came, it would be faced firmly throughout the British Commonwealth.

Captain M. F. Macintosh, M.P.P., Federal and Provincial organizer for the party, congratulated Junior Conservatives on their enterprise and initiative in arranging and carrying out the picnic in the face of adverse circumstances—remarks in which W. H. M. Haldane, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, and Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, chairman of the Oak Bay wards, joined warmly.

Mr. Haldane spoke briefly in introducing Mr. Maitland who, accompanied by Mrs. Maitland, crossed from Vancouver yesterday to spend three hours at the rally. Warwick Rawson, president of the Junior Conservatives, welcomed the large turnout, and presented the speakers.

SPIRITED PROGRAMME

Exhibition increase by the Conservatives' team; a sound truck for music and the addresses; a midway with coconut shies, darts, a treasure hunt and a tombola; a track programme for people of all ages, in which many handsome prizes were distributed; rounded out a spirited rally, which ended with refreshments on the beach. Children had a field day with twenty events.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Warwick Rawson, Miss Ruth Parr, Miss A. Kater, Miss J. Weatherall, Miss Muriel Laurence, Miss Betty Watts, W. Eldridge, Grant Willis, Edward Robertson and A. Walker, with Archie McKinnon acting as starter for the foot races and other sports events. Senior and Junior Conservatives of the city and environs attended the picnic in increasing numbers as the afternoon progressed. The weather held fine throughout the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Maitland returned on the night boat to Vancouver.

Freighter Develops List at Ogden Point

Unequal distribution of water ballast, due to faulty pumps, caused the British freighter Inverella to take a list just before the hour for her departure on Monday evening. Yesterday, workmen from Yarrows Limited, Esquimalt, were busy repairing the pumping gear on the ship, and it is believed she will get away for some time today, following a survey of hull and cargo. The Inverella is carrying a deckload of lumber and 3,000 tons of wheat.

BOARDED LINER
Miss Florence Stevens, former Victoria girl, and for some years secretary to the president of Stanford University at Palo Alto, boarded the liner Aorangi here last evening on a holiday trip to Sydney. Miss Stevens visited her father, W. A. Stevens, who resides here. Coming to Victoria to see their sister away also were Harold Stevens, editor of The Palo Alto Times, and Dr. Frank Stevens, of Portland.

HERE OVERNIGHT
Coming in from the United Kingdom by way of Panama, Central America, California and Washington ports, the Donaldson Line Ma Modavia, Capt. J. Work was to commence in connection with the discharge of cargo immediately, and it was expected that the ship would be ready to continue to Mainland ports early this morning. The Modavia landed 125 tons of general cargo here, and loaded some freight for the homeward passage.

EXPECTED TONIGHT
The Royal Mail Line's M. Lochkatrine is looked for alongside Rihet Pier tonight, according to Adam P. Moffatt & Partners, Ltd., agents for the line. She will discharge cargo at Rihet Pier.

Although no stops will be made en route to the Puget Sound city, the plane will pass over Prince George, B.C.

Originally it was planned to stop at Vancouver, but it was explained here that direct flight would only be broken in the event of unfavorable weather conditions or mechanical difficulties.

INTERED IN OWN COUNTRY

United States Passengers
Aboard German Vessel
Unable to Land

EVERETT, Aug. 30 (AP).—Virtually "interned" in their own country, a score of American passengers aboard the German motorship Portland scanned newspaper headlines, sipped Munich beer and pondered their plight today.

In view of the European crisis, the Seattle agents ordered Capt. Franz Harder to hold the vessel in port here, instead of proceeding to Vancouver, B.C., after arriving Sunday to load lumber for Germany.

"I guess we'll have to stick it out for a while," Miss Virginia Benjes, Burlingame, Cal., secretary, laughed.

FOOD IS GRAND
"It's all interesting, and we're certainly on a bit of German territory that hasn't heard about Hitler's ration orders. The food is grand—and the extra days won't cost us anything."

The situation arises because of the law prohibiting foreign vessels from carrying American passengers directly from one American port to another and landing them there under penalty of a $500 fine for each passenger. The Portland moved here from Port Gamble, a Puget Sound port.

The passengers, most of whom boarded ship at San Francisco for a round-trip voyage to Vancouver, B.C., and Puget Sound, had expected to be back home by tomorrow.

Dr. C. E. Voight, San Francisco physician, and his wife and two children, were on the ship. He was less enthusiastic than Miss Benjes.

"It looks like we'll have to pay the fines ourselves if we want to get off ship," he said. "Of course, the company won't be anxious to."

Mrs. Adair Collins, San Mateo, Cal., said these German officers are just awful about the war.

"WAR MUST COME"
"They think war must come. Maybe not now, they say, but they're all so certain it must come—it's awful. But they're just wonderful about everything else."

The ship's first officer, Ernest Swenger, shrugged his shoulders when asked when the ship would sail.

"We won't risk taking the ship through Puget Sound until the crisis is settled," he said. "That is one! Maybe we stay in Everett quite a while, eh? If war comes, probable we stay right here."

Destroyer Moves Into Gatun Lake, Centre of Canal

CRISTOBAL, C.Z., Aug. 30 (AP).—The United States destroyer J. Fred Talbot today was ordered into Gatun Lake, near the centre of the Panama Canal, as a precautionary measure during the European crisis.

The German motor-liner Leipzig tied up here today alongside the French liner Bretagne, which arrived a few hours earlier from Havre. The Leipzig was one of the few Nazi vessels to call here since the crisis started.

Atlantic Planes Of Pan-American Will Be Rerouted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP).—Pan-American Airways said today it was planning to reroute its southern trans-Atlantic air service to include stops at Bermuda to and from Europe via the Azores.

The action is being taken at the request of the Bermuda Trade Development Board, the company said, to offset reduction of steamship schedules brought about by European war threats.

Concern Felt for British Subjects On Italian Liner

BOMBAY, Aug. 30 (AP).—Some concern was felt here today for 150 British subjects among the 700 passengers aboard the India-bound Italian liner Conte Biancamano, now overdue two days from Europe, now overdue two days from Europe.

A message from an Indian passenger aboard indicated the liner may be lying some distance off Colombo awaiting clarification of the European crisis.

Relatives of the British passengers have approached the Government to try to arrange their transfer to a British ship.

LARGE LIST ABOARD
SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 30 (AP).—The liner Queen Mary sailed today with 2,385 passengers, a record.

The list included J. P. Morgan, American financier, who kept only a bedroom for himself when he learned of the crash of passengers, allowing guests to sleep in the drawing-room and garden veranda he had reserved.

MYSTERY REGARDING FIGURES SEEN GOING ABOARD SHIP SOLVED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30 (AP).—Disclosure that two figures seen boarding the North German Lloyd freighter Wiegand in the Delaware River before dawn were a Philadelphia ship chandler and his wife, cleared up today part of a mystery surrounding the departure of two German ships.

There still was some mystery as to the whereabouts of the freighter. She has not been reported since she left the Delaware breakwater, although due at Norfolk yesterday.

A young man went to join the army. He gave the recruiting sergeant full particulars of his life history, and finally he was asked: "Now, who is your next of kin?"

"Mrs. Mary Smith, sir."

"And what is her address?"

"No blinkin' fear!" came the recruit's indignant reply. "You don't catch me like that!"

What Today Means

"VIRGO"
If August 31 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m.; from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m., and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m., from 5:45 to 7:45 p.m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

Unduly critical persons will have only themselves to blame if their day turns out unpleasantly for them. Arguments will be easily started, so it might be well to avoid controversial topics. Select your words with care, for through the careless use of them a good deal of trouble will be traceable. Mental alertness alone will prevent many a faux pas, especially in the way of a breach of good manners. Ignoring warnings is likely to prove decidedly dangerous this day, especially if they concern traffic regulations. People who take an arbitrary stand regarding any matter that might be settled satisfactorily by making a concession, are likely to discover that they have made a mistake. Facts, not theories, should be the basis on which your decisions will be predicated this day. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are ready to surrender their heart and hand into someone else's keeping, must be careful not to appear to be dictatorial in any way. If harmonious conditions are to prevail. If a woman and August 31 is your birthday, have the courage of your convictions and adhere to them. Your judgment ought to be just as good, and at times even better, than someone else's. If you keep it free of prejudice. 'Tis seldom pays to have too many irons in the fire, so restrict your activities if you would save yourself from a needless worry. Never make a god of money if you wish to sleep well at nights, for avarice is one of the chief causes of unhappiness among some of the Virgo women born on this date. Through journalism, teaching, music writing, acting, singing, interior decorating, selling, or in some managerial capacity, your income may become most satisfactory and you may gain a fine reputation. You are apt to display excellent judgment in the selection of a husband. The child born on August 31, should be a most satisfactory adjunct to any family circle. Such children who receive special training for a specialized line of work generally do much better than those who are left to shift for themselves. Praise stimulates their efforts, and condemnation usually discourages them. If a man and August 31 is your natal day, you will, in all likelihood, succeed in any work in which you put your heart and soul. As a soldier, sailor, engineer, explorer, author, educator, public office holder, lawyer, doctor, clergyman, manufacturer, agriculturist, salesman or actor you should prosper and win a great deal of respect. DONATES FOCH'S COAT HAZEBROUCK, France (AP)—The long black cloak Marshal Ferdinand Foch of the French Army wore for inspections throughout the Great War has been presented to the Cassel Museum by "Papa" Foch's widow.

EMPTY HEAD

Algy (recounting tedious story). "And then the big brute threatened to blow my brains out." Friend: "Aid did he?"

NOT SO EASY

It was very intelligent of Hollywood to cast Jascha Heifetz as a musician in his first film. Now to find a fiddler to double for him on the violin.

BACK to SCHOOL

SCHOOL CHILDREN HAVE MANY NEEDS FOR COMING TERM

Tuesday Will See Students Returning to Their Studies All Over the Province—Victoria Merchants Ready to Meet Demand for Supplies of All Kinds

THE long vacation is over. Next Tuesday children all over the country will be trooping back to school. From the tiny tot first venturing out into the work and play of school life to the senior student who has already carved himself a niche in the social order of things, all have many needs for the coming term.

A short session at school Tuesday will tell them what they need to buy and then, accompanied by their parents, they will be flocking into the city to purchase school supplies of all kinds.

STORES PREPARED

Victoria's stores are well prepared for invasion and a brisk business is anticipated in text books, stationery and all the impediments from draughtsmen's tools to the humble yet none the less essential ruler, scribbler and exercise book.

The Tuesday buying rush will, however, only cover a small proportion of their needs. It is not only a new term, but a new season, and clothing is an important item to consider. This is best done now, before the stocks are depleted by the inevitable rush. Many of the students have freshly returned from summer camp by the sea or lake-shore where anything more than black or a bathing suit has been considered definitely overdressing. The return to the everyday world calls for outfitting with clothes and shoes that are neat yet sturdy, giving 100% value in the strenuous rough and tumble play.

Style weighs much with the young miss in high school or nearing that

CHILD MUST OBEY RULES

Traffic Laws Important for Every Child—Safety Depends on Observance

Parents of children going to school have a definite duty toward them with regard to instruction in traffic safety. They must be taught the importance of obeying regulations and must be shown that willful disregard of laws may cause them injury or worse. It is a lesson which will stand them in good stead not only as regards their present safety, but through years to come, when they attain the age when they will drive cars themselves.

It is their first contact with the forces of law and order and it is every parent's duty to bring home a proper realization that these rules are laid down for their own protection.

The following rules for children have been compiled in a booklet by Chief of Police J. A. McLellan and he looks for the co-operation of parents in impressing the lesson on the child.

1. Train your eyes to see the dangers of the road and your ears to hear warning sounds.

2. Be careful when entering or leaving the school grounds.

LOOK BOTH WAYS

3. Look both ways before stepping off the sidewalk on to the street.

4. On-coming traffic is on your left hand as you step off the curb and on your right hand as you reach the centre of the street.

5. Cross the street at corners only and always at right angles. To cross diagonally or in the middle of the block shows that you do not know your traffic rules or that you are willfully careless.

6. Where there is a sidewalk or footpath always use it and never walk in the road unless you are compelled to do so.

7. If you have to walk in the road because there is no footpath, keep to the extreme left of the road so that you are facing the traffic. If you walk in the same direction as the traffic is going, it is sometimes difficult for the motorist to see you and you run the risk of being struck.

8. Never ride any kind of scooter or motor wagon across or in the street.

REMOVE YOUR SKATES

9. When roller skating, remove your skates before crossing the street.

10. When alighting from a street car, look sharply for approaching vehicles. Alight facing the front of the car. Do not cross in front of the car, but when you see that it is safe, cross behind the car.

11. When riding your bicycle, keep to the extreme right of the street and do not walk on the sidewalk.

12. Do not ride your bicycle too near to the side or rear of a street car or other vehicle.

13. It is dangerous for two children to ride on one bicycle.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE

14. Do not hold on to street cars or other vehicles; it is a dangerous practice and it is against the law.

15. When riding your bicycle you must not "jay-ride" at the intersection.

16. Never ride more than two abreast, and on narrow streets ride in a single file.

17. Have white tails or patches on the rear mudguards of your bicycles; it is a good protection at night.

18. Never beg or steal rides on street cars, automobiles, wagons, or other vehicles.

19. Do not stand in the roadway to solicit a ride from a motorist; in trying to avoid you he may collide with another vehicle.

20. Teach children younger than yourself how to obey the traffic rules and to avoid accidents.

SPECIAL WARNING

Children are warned not to get into conversation with strange men. Never under any circumstances accept rides in motor cars offered by strangers. Do not be enticed by strange men who offer you money or candy to go walking or riding

MANY CAUSES OF POOR APPETITE

Well Balanced Diet Essential for Child's Health—Trouble May Be Psychological

Poor appetite may be due to one of several causes. The trouble may be that food is not presented in an appetizing and attractive manner. It may be that the wrong foods are chosen—too much sugars and starches that satisfy the appetite without providing the body with well-balanced nourishment. The trouble may be psychological.

In the household where meal time is likely to be a time for wrangling and scolding, it is small wonder that sensitive members of the family have a poor appetite.

It may be that the persons afflicted with poor appetite are in ill-health—the poor appetite may be simply a symptom of their disorder. Or it may be that they do not get sufficient exercise to work up an appetite. Actually they may eat as much as they need.

Often when a mother complains that her son or her daughter has a poor appetite, the fact is that the mother has an exaggerated idea of how much a child of that age should eat. In your family there may be a son of twelve and a daughter of six, and the fact that the son always comes to the table with a ravenous appetite and eats everything that is set before him, while the daughter eats only half the food given her, that without eagerness, and is the source of constant anxiety to you. You may overlook the fact that little daughter is only about half as large as the twelve-year-old son and that at the present she is not growing at anywhere so rapid a rate as brother. Children between two and ten or eleven seem to go through stages of rapid growth and comparative quiescence. For a few weeks they really need only enough to repair every day's waste and to supply energy for the day's occupations. Their appetites seem to be abnormally small. Then may follow a few weeks or months of rapid growth and development when they eat with an appetite that is much more gratifying but really no more normal.

Constant urging and nagging at mealtime sometimes is responsible for poor appetites. There is a type of child that really relishes being in the limelight at mealtime in this way and actually refrains from eating eagerly for fear of losing his or her position of importance.

SUMMER STUDY OF STARS ENDS

Overcast Conditions Cause Cancellation of Observations in Park

Overcast skies and rain resulted in the cancellation of last night's intended planet-observation work at Beacon Hill Park.

Sponsored as an experiment by the Victoria Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce, these Wednesday evening planet-study groups at Beacon Hill Park surpassed all expectations in popularity, hundreds of persons attending each night. While no further meetings are planned for this year, the question of resuming the sessions next summer will be discussed in the course of the next few weeks, as the object in view—the spreading of astronomical knowledge and the stimulation of popular interest in study of the planets—was undoubtedly achieved, said Dr. R. M. Petrie, vice-president of the Astronomical Society and a member of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory staff, in referring to the outcome of the experiment.

Telescopes used in connection with these meetings were the three-inch refractor belonging to Robert Peters, president of the society, who was in charge of the observation work, and the six-inch reflector made by A. H. Young, a member of the telescope-making section of the society.

WAR RISK RATES RISE ONCE MORE

Appearance of Warships Off South American Coast Causes Insurance Increases

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—War risk insurance rates on American vessels plying between North and South America went up today for the first time since 1918.

The rate of 5 cents per $100 coverage was raised to 12 1/2 cents. Rates on intercoastal and coastwise shipments in North and South America when goods are carried in ships of nations other than the United States and Latin-American countries also were raised.

Insurance men said the appearance of British cruisers off the South American coast and a report of German submarines heading in that direction caused the increase. No American insurance is available to German and Italian ships.

OBSERVATORY TO BE CLOSED TO VISITORS ON SATURDAY NIGHTS

Owing to extensive alterations to the dome of the Astrophysical Observatory on Little Seawick Mountain, usual Saturday evening periods for visitors from 8 to 10 o'clock will be discontinued for the next few weeks, probably throughout September, it was announced yesterday by Dr. J. A. Pearce, assistant director.

After September 1, Dr. Pearce said that the road near the dome would also be closed to traffic. However, visitors may park their automobiles below the office building and walk the required distance of 300 yards by trail to the dome, which will be open for inspection from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. as usual each weekday. Work on the road is expected to be completed in approximately two to three weeks.

A NEW CHAMPION IS BORN!

... and Firestone

FLASHES THE NEWS VIA DAILY NEWSPAPERS

CONSISTENT, nation-wide advertisers since 1921 when their Canadian plant was opened, Firestone, from proved experience, turned first to daily newspapers to introduce the new Firestone Champion Tire and Firestone Leakproof Tube, this spring.

Response was immediate. In a single day car owners across Canada were asking for the new Firestone Champion Tire and Leakproof Tube. Mounting sales, taxed Firestone production facilities, proving the pulling power of daily newspapers.

Firestone attributes its success to two factors—a quality product and consistent advertising.

That this combination still remains the greatest impetus for better business is reflected in the fact that the Firestone plant at Hamilton, Ontario, is always busy meeting an ever increasing demand.

One of a series of announcements featuring specific examples of the power of newspaper advertising to build business.
